

We worked closely with our clients at Vale Farm to keep the specification exactly as they liked. Tweaks are made throughout the project, so it's a pretty personal affair. We took architectural cues from the surrounding barns and natural environment and incorporated them into the design, enabling us to seamlessly merge the hard lines of steel with the softness of wood. The Pigsty has since been voted Airbnb's most 'wishlist' stay for 2021 and is fully booked most of the year.

The Pigsty's sound eco credentials set it totally apart from its rivals, creating a bespoke space that is luxurious, high quality and in-keeping with its natural surroundings. This is glamping re-defined; there is no canvas, no damp and no cold. The structure can be used all year round, paying for itself and quickly making it a smart investment.

The Pigsty

In September 2019 boon completed its inaugural building project at Vale Farm on the outskirts of Winchester. The Pigsty was launched for luxury overnight stays and it has been fully booked ever since. Guests shed the stress of the city and relax in a private belt of woodland set deep within a 600-acre farm all to themselves. The Pigsty is a beautiful creation, with a domed, corrugated steel roof, reclaimed timber throughout, double-glazed steel French doors and windows, fully fitted kitchen, roll top bath and reclaimed cast iron radiators.

We used a redundant grain store on the farm which allowed us to work constantly despite the changing weather. It allowed us to have all our tools and machinery in one place; an absolute joy for a project like this.
